RAIL LABOR BOARD AND STONE IN DISPUTE OVER APPEARANCE OF GENERAL CHAIRMEN AT PARLEY

BRIAND OF FRANCE IN POLITICAL TANGLE

PARIS, October 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Debate in the chamber of deputies on the general policy of the French government must end by tonight, in the general opinion of political observers here. Premier Briand at the opening of the session of parliament, demanded from the chamber a vote of confidence that was emphatic enough for him to appear before the conference on limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions at Washington as the undoubted spokesman of the people of France. Friends of the premier said today he must know his fate at once as there is only just enough time for him to make necessary arrangements to sail on Saturday, if he is to attend the Washington conference.

These entertaining apprehensions that the cabinet might not get a sufficient majority today expressed uneasiness as to the consequences of a vote in the chamber. They declared it was difficult to see clearly just how the question of French representation at Washington might be solved if M. Briand failed to receive a sufficient vote of confidence from the chamber.

It generally takes several days to form a new cabinet, and in the present emergency it might take longer, because no one is conspicuously in view for the task.

According to precedent, Premier Briand, if defeated, would be asked by President Millerand to continue to take care of current affairs until a new cabinet was formed. Whether this would be considered to justify him in naming the delegates to Washington is a question in parliamentary circles, and there appears to be no other constitutional provision which would fit the case.

Charles Coup Fails; Tries To Kill Self

Harding Names Cotton "Princess"

Miss Mary Adams Stevens of Washington, descendant of John Quincy Adams, named by President Harding to attend the "Queen of the Cotton" carnival at Waco, Texas, as "princess" from the District of Columbia.

BUDAPEST, October 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Former Emperor Charles, whose attempt to re-establish himself upon the Magyar throne, met with dismal failure yesterday, attempted to commit suicide by shooting following his arrest near Komorn. Former Empress Zita saw him preparing to shoot himself, and prevented him from carrying out his intention. The former emperor and empress are now prisoners in the Esterhazy Castle at Tata-Tovarnas, and Thomas Beaumont Hohler, British high commissioner in Hungary, is hurrying there, with the representatives of other nations, to insure the safety of the prisoners.

Orders sent to the rebellious troops supporting Charles by Admiral Horthy, the Hungarian regent, spelled the doom of Charles' attempt to regain at least a part of his former empire. The regent reminded the soldiers of their oath of allegiance to him and demanded their unconditional obedience, adding that the success of their undertaking would mean the ruin of the country. The firm stand of Admiral Horthy had its effect, and the royalist forces scattered, seeming to vanish into thin air. Latest advices from the section of country around Komorn indicated the government troops continued their pursuit of the royalists and that the Karist premier, M. Rakovsky and Count Andrássy were among the supporters of the former monarch captured by the loyal troops.

Charles' plan to return to the Hungarian throne having failed, the Hungarian government will probably await action by the allied powers regarding his future place of residence. It is known that Switzerland will not again give him refuge and it is possible that he will be removed to some place where he will be virtually a prisoner of the allied powers.

Fumigation Kills Four

CLEVELAND, O., October 25.—Louis J. Beggs, manager of a local fumigating company, was arrested in police court today on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death yesterday of three women and a man.

The dead were found in their apartments on the third floor of a building, where Beggs was fumigating a restaurant, on the first two floors. They are Frank Fryer, 55, janitor of the building; his daughter, Mabel, 29, and Mrs. Helen Aschelman Perkins 35, and Mrs. Alena Miller Sterchi, 28, formerly of Chattanooga, Tenn. Windows and doors of the restaurant had been sealed, according to the police, but a ventilating shaft to the third floor had not, it is alleged, that the fumes escaped, catching the victims in their suites without warning.

MAIL POUCH ROBBERY LOOT TOTALS THOUSANDS

NEW YORK, October 25.—Three automobile bandits who held up a United States mail truck in Lower Broadway late last night, escaping with four pouches of registered mail, were being sought by the police and postal inspectors today.

Postal authorities said they were unable to fix the value of the stolen mail, much of which had originated in the Wall street district. One of the inspectors on duty said city detectives in the pouches contained about $1,000,000 in money and negotiable paper. Other estimates fixed the value of the haul around $100,000.

Frank Havranek, driver of the truck, was detained by the police to look over suspects expected to be brought in as the result of a city-wide alarm sounded a half hour after the hold-up.

Havranek told the police he had proceeded only a few blocks on his run from the city hall station to the general post office opposite the Pennsylvania terminal, when a green touring car, bearing three men levelled at him, with the command to slow down. When he complied, Havranek said, he was ordered to turn into Leonard street and stop. The bandits then dragged him from his seat and forced him to give up the key to the truck gates. While one covered him with a pistol, Havranek said, the others

CRISIS IN IRISH PARLEY OVER FOR PRESENT

LONDON, October 25.—(By the Associated Press)—An official communique issued from Number 10 Downing street, after the Sinn Fein representatives had left the British premier's official residence this evening said that "the meeting of the full conference on Ireland was postponed as a committee of the conference was sitting."

LONDON, October 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The view was expressed at Sinn Fein headquarters this forenoon that the crisis in the Irish conference was over for the present.

Not The Old Fashioned Kind

LOUISVILLE, KY., October 25.—Assuming that breweries are permitted to make beer under regulations issued by the treasury, it will not be the "old fashioned" kind, according to John Drake, vice president of a Louisville beverage company.

Only malts and hops are used in making near-beer, he said, whereas a cereal is required for "real beer." Even then, he said, it will be three weeks before the medicinal product can be made.

THAT RACE TO REDUCE
NEW YORK—Two of New York's fifty fat women who are attempting to become slender, gained during the last week, one gained 2 1/2 pounds and the other 2 pounds. The other 48 showed an average loss of six pounds and five ounces.

SITUATION IS CRITICAL, SAY UNION LEADERS

CLEVELAND, O., October 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Notwithstanding the railroad labor board has cited all general chairmen of the "big five" railroad transportation organizations to appear before the board tomorrow, Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said today he had notified the general chairmen of his organization they need not respond to the invitation.

Telegrams exchanged between Chairman R. M. Barton and the "big five" leaders were made public by Mr. Stone.

Mr. Stone said he had notified his general chairmen that they need not attend the Chicago meeting, believing that the board had a misunderstanding as to the authorities of the chairmen and that when this matter was cleared up the board would recognize his position.

The leaders would make no comment on Chairman Barton's reply asserting that the board wanted the general chairmen also at the meeting. The matter, they said, would be considered in conference this afternoon.

After this morning's conference of the executives, it was announced that the situation still was unchanged and "critical." They said there had been a full discussion of all matters pertaining to the strike.

CHICAGO, October 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The United States railroad labor board went into executive session this afternoon to consider the situation arising in the misunderstanding on the part of some of the big four brother hood leaders as to the meaning of the board's order summoning 1,400 general chairmen of the unions to attend the hearing here tomorrow. The labor board in its executive session completed its plans for the hearing tomorrow. After an opening statement by Chairman R. M. Barton, explaining the reason for the summons, each side will be given an opportunity to present a statement with cross-examination to follow.

The board will immediately set a semi-judicial body to determine whether its order of July 1, reducing wages has been or is about to be violated by either side. The method of procedure will be much the same as in a contempt action, it was explained.

CHICAGO, October 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The labor board this afternoon asked the Association of Railway Executives to select a committee to meet with the board at 3:00 o'clock. No announcement was made of the subjects to be discussed.

The executives had just gone into session at the Blackstone Hotel when the board announced it had dispatched a messenger with the request, Robert S. Binkerd, assistant to Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the executives, said a committee would be appointed immediately to meet with the board.

The committee of executives will be asked to give the board first hand information as to their plans and their position, if the threatened strike materializes, it was learned at the labor board. "Our purpose in calling them is the same as when we called the union presidents here last week," a board member said.

PUBLIC OPINION EXPECTED TO COMPEL PRINCIPALS TO AVERT RAILROAD STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Powerless to invoke any war-time laws because of a feeling that public sentiment would not sanction such a step as the date for a formal proclamation of peace approaches, the administration is really without any special authority to stop a railroad strike.

This disclosure was followed upon a search of the statutes to see if there was not some specific law which applied to the present situation. In "time of war" as the National Defense act reads, the President has plenty of power. He can even take over the operation of the railroads. Of course the President could in time of peace proclaim martial law in any question of the country where a disturbance occurred and assume control of the railroads in that particular section. Such an extreme course is not likely, however.

There is a confidence rather that the power of public opinion will compel obedience. The use of the injunction is being talked about again, but the controversy which resulted from the application of that idea when a coal strike was threatened, has left an unpleasant taste legally, and none of the Government officers feel that it ought to be done.

Congress Could Furnish Power
On the other hand, the powers of Congress to control interstate commerce have been derived from interpretations of the Constitution and the Supreme Court of the United States. Almost overnight an amendment could be passed by Congress to the Esch-Cummings law imposing penalties upon any one who violates the decisions of the United States Railroad Labor Board. It seems practically certain that Mr. Harding will not rely upon some uncertain powers as phrased in a statute originally written for some other purpose. It isn't in his make-up to resort to quibbling or ambiguities. He will, moreover, want the full backing of Congress in the emergency.

The simple announcement from the White House that war-time powers would not be invoked has been warmly approved in Congress where it is felt that with such an issue at stake no move ought to be made without specific authority from the legislative body of the government. Unquestionably individual efforts will be made to put teeth into the Esch-Cummings law but the decision of the administration itself on that point is still held in abeyance.

War-Time Laws Would Only Pave Strike
The trouble about bringing up some war-time law is that the strike would only be postponed. What is really sought by all sides is permanent settlement or a deflation, at least, of how far employers on the one hand can organize for the purpose of standardizing employment and how far employees can organize to interrupt commerce and injure the public welfare.

The threatened railroad strike affects a public utility but politically speaking its significance is more extensive than that. The administration realizes that it must be careful in its moves to proceed absolutely according to law or it will lay itself open to the worst kind of political warfare such

BEER AND WINE AS MEDICINE MADE LEGAL

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 25.—Beer as a medicine enjoys a full legal status today through the unexpected action of the treasury department in promulgating regulations permitting its use for that purpose. Issued in accordance with an opinion submitted by Attorney General Palmer, last March, 3, holding the medicinal use of beer to be legal under the prohibition laws, and after being withheld since then in anticipation of early action by congress on the pending anti-beer measure, announcement of the beer regulations came as a complete surprise to prohibition leaders. In making known their promulgation, Secretary Mellon declared the department was unable to withhold the regulations longer in view of the "plain legal rights of the parties concerned."

No Beer For Ohio's Sick

COLUMBUS, O., October 25.—Prohibition leaders here today pointed out that the treasury department ruling permitting the use of beer for medicinal purposes, will be without effect in Ohio, because of the anti-beer bill passed by the Ohio legislature last winter. This bill, they pointed out, will specifically nullify in this state the ruling made by Secretary Mellon's department. Under it, they said, Ohio physicians can not prescribe beer regardless of federal rulings on the subject.

Beer or wine cannot be sold for any purpose in Iowa, Illinois or Indiana without violating their state dry laws, officials announced today.

Vote To Increase Small Income Tax Exemptions

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 25.—Tax rates of four per cent on the first $4,000 of income and eight per cent on all over that amount were approved today by the senate. Three rates are in force.

If adopted an amendment, under which interests paid in 1921 and 1922 on indebtedness incurred to purchase or carry tax exempt securities issued by the United States would not be deductible for purposes of determining net income.

It adopted an amendment providing that the only deduction allowed to taxpayers borrowing money to purchase or carry federal securities shall be the difference between the amount of interest paid on the indebtedness thus incurred and that received on the securities.

It approved the house proposal increasing from $2,000 to $2,500 the exemption to heads of families having net income of $5,000 a year or less.

Cox To Join Hunting Party

MONROE, LA., October 25.—Former Governor James M. Cox, of Dayton, Ohio, Democratic candidate for president, and other distinguished men will be participants in a hunting expedition in the Tensas swamp near Bear Lake, which will begin during the first part of November and continue for possibly three months. It was learned today. Among those who are expected to arrive with Mr. Cox are Colonel C. B. Fields, of Alma, Kansas, an old

EXPULSION OF BLANTON IS DEMANDED

WASHINGTON, October 25.—Expulsion from the house of representatives of Thomas L. Blanton, Democrat, Texas, was called for in a resolution introduced today by Representative Mondell, the Republican leader.

The ground for the move to expel was publication in the congressional record as part of an extension of remarks by Blanton of an affidavit relating to a row at the government printing office, which affidavit was characterized by some house members as obscene and unfit for transmission through the mails.

In Blanton's absence consideration of the resolution was deferred until Thursday.

The resolution offered by Mr. Mondell follows: "Whereas, Thomas L. Blanton, representative from the 17th district of the state of Texas, did on October 4, 1921, ask unanimous consent to extend his remarks in the congressional record upon the improvements in the government printing office, which consent was granted by the house; and—

"Whereas, under such permission the said Thomas L. Blanton did insert and cause to be printed in the congressional record for Saturday, October 22, 1921, grossly indecent and obscene language unworthy of a member of the house of representatives, contrary to the rules of the house, derogatory to its dignity and in violation of its confidence, therefore, be it—

"Resolved, that the said Thomas Blanton by his conduct as aforesaid, has forfeited all rights to sit as a representative of the 67th congress, and is hereby expelled and declared to be no longer a member of this house."

Another resolution for Blanton's expulsion was prepared by Representative McLaughlin, Republican, Nebraska, and was about to be dropped into the house hopper when Mr. McLaughlin was informed that one would be presented by Mr. Mondell.

The Nebraska's resolution charged that publication of the offensive affidavit in the record "made it unlawful" and also made members of congress "liable to criminal prosecution and punishment" if they knowingly had caused it to be mailed.

Announcement was made that the Texas delegation would meet tomorrow to act on the Blanton case. There was a suggestion from some Democrats that the resolution of expulsion be amended to censure only.

May Postpone Arms Meet Opening

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Postponement of the opening meeting of the international conference on armament and Far Eastern affairs until the morning of November 12 was intimated as probable today by high officials.

Conflict between the program as originally drafted for the conference and that for the ceremonies incident to Armistice Day burial of America's unknown soldier was given as the reason for the probable postponement.

Newspaper Man Dies At His Desk

HAMILTON, O., October 25.—Campbell Gard, vice president and managing editor of the Evening Journal, dropped dead at his desk at noon today.

Physicians pronounced his death due to acute indigestion.

He was the only son of Homer Gard, president and manager of the Journal Publishing Company, and was to have been married to Miss Helen Raymond, of Wyoming, Ohio, next Saturday night.

He was 26 years old.

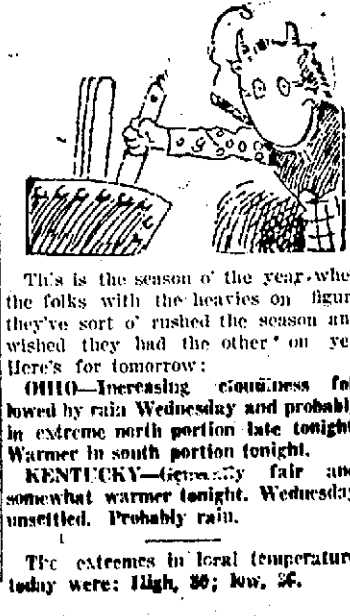

NEW YORK, October 25.—W. R. Masterson, former sheriff in the southwest and in recent years a sporting editor of the Morning Telegraph, died of heart disease while at work at his desk today. He was 66 years old.

More Converts At Revival

As the evangelistic services move along at the beginning of the third week at the Ohio Avenue Christian church, it is marked with encouragement by large attendance and three more converts making the total converts 15 to date.

The evangelist, P. E. Britton, announced last evening that the services would continue all this week and if continued interest warrants, he will continue the meeting two more weeks. Last night the evangelist preached on the subject of "Faith or Unbelief." He said in part, that the world was made by faith and the patriarchs lived and died in the faith. The yearly offerings from year to year were for the means of the forgiveness of their sins, but the necessitated believing in the coming of Christ. These all died in the faith. The world is run on the faith basis, faith in one another, three factories are built and money invested in faith that the products manufactured will be sold and the profits divided to the investors.

The farmer sows the seed and tills the soil in faith.

Brother Britton continues to lead the chorus with favor and spirit. Special music every evening. Come.

If You Are For GOOD SCHOOLS

Are you in favor of good schools? Would you take your fine jeweled watch to a blacksmith to have it repaired? Would you take your sick baby to a veterinarian? Finally, getting down to "brass tacks", are you willing to take a chance of issuing commissions to that triumvirate, J. Rickey, J. Brant and J. Gerlach, to employ a County Superintendent for your county schools? From an educational standpoint, are either of the above gentlemen competent or capable, even in a moderate degree, to fill the responsible position to which they aspire? Honestly now, Mr. Reader, did you ever hear of J. Rickey or J. Gerlach being accused of being afflicted with enlargement of the heart in regard to educational matters, or of having "torn their shirts", in the interest or advancement of good schools? Neither did we.

Question No. 2, by the County Board of School Examiners. J. Rickey and Colleagues, Stand up. In your so-called platform of misleading inferences, do you mean to say that some teacher has not received a Square Deal in the way of a certificate at the hands of the County Board of School Examiners? If you do, name the teacher.

Can you Mr. Voter, live happy and contented in a house which you know to have been built upon a foundation from which the house of your friend and benefactor has been torn by vandals? If you cannot so live, then ponder, can you by your vote endorse the present venomous attack on Superintendent E. O. McCowen, the scandalous inferences, and misleading methods? Neither can we.

The candidates of "Three People", say in an ad. in the Portsmouth Times, October 6, that the late legislature repealed the law in reference to the method of electing a County Board of Education and the County Superintendent. But they neglect to inform their readers of the fact that the method of electing the County Superintendent remains exactly the same as it has always been, namely, by the County Board of Education. In that respect we accuse them of endeavoring to mislead. Then, gentlemen, can you consistently undertake to attack the personality of Superintendent McCowen, trying to make him the issue when you know that the members to be elected November 8th, along with the two hold over members, will constitute the next County Board and have authority to hire whom they please at the expiration of Superintendent McCowen's present term? Further, gentlemen, is this not rather a personal attack on Superintendent McCowen because he has always been aggressively for school development? We think it is, too. So will a great majority of Scioto County voters think on November 8th, and they will

"The Inside of the Cup"

Scores

Exposing smug hypocrisy and telling a highly dramatic and appealing story, "The Inside of the Cup," a powerful Paramount-Cosmopolitan picture, admirably produced, was presented at the Columbia theatre yesterday. This is an excellent picture of Winston Churchill's powerful novel which excited world-wide controversy on its publication seven years ago.

The theme is an excellent one and the story of human lives which the narrative unfolds, has been charmingly developed. The picture is one that will inspire thought as well as entertain. The company of players, too, is far above the average. The character of John Hodder, the Rector, who exposes the hypocrisy of his rich parishioners, is excellently portrayed by William P. Carleton. That of Alison Parr, the daughter of Eldon Parr, a hypocritical financier, is finely presented by Edith Hallor. Kate Marley, a salesgirl, is captivantly portrayed by Marguerite Clayton. The support generally is unusually clever, but special mention should be made of the work of David Torrence, Jack Bohn, Richard Carlyle and Margaret Sedden.

Explains How Tax Rate Grew; Shows City Was Run Most Economically

Addressing his associates upon the Democratic city ticket and a number of precinct committeemen at a Democratic headquarters Monday evening, Mayor William N. Gableman devoted his entire time to city taxation problems and to correcting loose statements made by various Republican candidates for office, in recent speeches.

Mayor Gableman showed conclusively how increases in tax rates are due not to city management but rather to special levies voted by the people themselves and to school levies.

The address was a mainly, dignified exposition of city finances, furnishing facts that every voter should carefully read and consider.

The address follows:

Fellow Candidates:—When an executive has completed his term of office it is only natural that his official acts be questioned. Some of this proceeds from an honest effort of the voters to inform themselves whether the official has conducted his affairs wisely or not. More often, however, from opposition to his policies, questioning is not in good faith and the effort is made to belabor the real issue for political effect.

It appears that one of the chief issues of our opponents is the question of city tax rate. The attempt is made to show that the city has had its rate vastly increased and that there has been undue expenditure of public funds.

At the outset, I do not want to be put in the attitude of trying to explain expenditures we have made in the past two years. I have given the subject earnest study and I cannot point to a single matter of expense which is not absolutely necessary and will bear the most favorable comparison with disbursements made for the same purpose in former years.

All of the tax figures are public property. Much of it has heretofore appeared in print and in communications which, from time to time, I have submitted to the City Council. It is my purpose to try to now present them in a concise manner and one that may be easily understood. I have taken occasion to verify all of them in the past few days; and to the extent of conferring with the County Auditor, I want to do him the credit now of stating that he appreciates the idea that these figures are public property and very courteously checked them so that there might be no inaccuracies. That there may be no invidious comparisons with some abnormal year, I am making these contrasts from the years 1915 to 1920, inclusive.

The receipts from taxation are distributed, naturally for various purposes: State, County, Schools and City. The levy in 1915 in the City of Portsmouth for those purposes was $1.40, that is to say, that $1.40 was levied against $100,000 listed for taxation. The rate was increased to $1.50 in 1916 and this rate continued for 1917. The rate was $1.50 in 1918, $1.50 in 1919, $1.50 in 1920, $1.50. The City's share in 1915 was 47 1/2%; in 1916, 50 1/2%; in 1917, 50 1/2%; in 1918, 50 1/2%; in 1919, 53 1/2%; in 1920, 51 1/2%. The lowest rate of the six years was in 1918, $1.43. This was the year of re-appraisal when the tax duplicate jumped from 37 million to 44 million, an increase of approximately 20 per cent. It will be noted, however, that the tax rate did not increase approximately 20 per cent, notwithstanding this healthy increase in the duplicate. The following year again found the rate on the increase.

Our city tax rate shows an increase of 60 cents from 915 to 1920. The City's share of this increase was the difference between 47 1/2% in 1915 and 51 1/2% in 1920 or 4%.

When the County Auditor makes his tax distribution, the city receives its share of the tax money, this amount is placed to the credit of seven funds. Six of these funds are known as the "Operating Funds": General Service, Safety, Health, Library and Hospitals. The seventh fund is the Sinking fund on of which bond and interest payments are made.

When the tax levy is made up, the law has become so rigid that the levy for Sinking fund purposes is given right-of-way over all other funds. That is to say, the credit of the city must be maintained even should it require every dollar available from taxation.

In 1915, when the city received 47 1/2% as its share of the $1.40 rate, 15c went to the Sinking fund, which left 32c to be divided among the six Operating funds. In 1916 20c of the 50c received by the city went to the Sinking fund. The city's share of the 50c in 1917 and 1918, Sinking fund's share jumped to 24c. Sinking fund requirements continued to climb in 1919 when this fund received 20c of the 53c received by the city in that year. 1920 was the "Peak" year for bond and interest payments, the Sinking fund taking 20c of the 51c levied.

It will be noted from the foregoing that the city received 32c for its Operating Funds in 1915 when the tax rate was $1.40 and this amount has dwindled to 23c in 1920 when we find the tax rate $2.00. The increase in taxes is 60c on each $100.00 while the decrease for operating the city is 9c. I would have you know that the city has not floated any large bond issues during the past two years, consequently these increased bond and interest payments are not for debts of the present administration.

What then are the items which go to make up the city's tax rate and why do they show this large increase of 60c in the past six years? The first is a 5c levy for State Highway purposes which is made on the entire tax duplicate of the State. Next comes the 20c road levy authorized by the voters of Scioto County a few years ago. Every tax payer is paying 20c into this $2.00 rate to better bonds and interest for the Scioto Trail improvement. Last year we voted the Gardner bill 20c school levy. These levies total 65c, leaving the tax rate $1.35 and we have not taken into consideration the extra levies made to reduce the tax rate. The issue of the construction of the Scioto river bridge, the new Children's Home and the several magnificent school buildings erected in Portsmouth in recent years, the first named an emergency proposition; the last two authorized by a vote of the people.

A complete table on this proposition reads as follows:

	Rate	Total Tax	City's Share	Sinking Fund	Operating Funds
1915	$1.40	$476,000	$129,800	$41,000	$105,800
1916	1.50	525,000	155,000	70,000	105,000
1917	1.50	553,000	155,000	88,000	105,000
1918	1.43	429,000	122,000	105,000	114,000
1919	1.50	520,000	240,750	117,000	123,750
1920	2.00	1,000,000	257,500	141,000	115,500

You will note, therefore, only $8,000.00 more was received by the city for 1921 for its Operating Funds from taxation than it received in 1915 and received $7,000.00 less for 1921 than it received for 1920. In addition, the city issued $36,000 in deficiency bonds in 1919. In order to float a deficiency bond issue the amount of such deficiency must be estimated and the legislation passed early in the year. We found certificates of indebtedness outstanding and a mass of unpaid bills when we went into office in 1920 and as a consequence we were forced to issue a $26,000.00 deficiency bond issue last year to wipe these out. Had the deficiency for 1919 been estimated high enough in 1919, we would not have been forced to issue any deficiency bonds last year. We have no deficiency bond issue this year. I pledge my word if re-elected there will be no such issues in 1922 and 1923. From what information I can gather, Portsmouth is the only city of its size in Ohio to have such a record.

In conclusion, I would call your attention to the fact that the city received in 1921 $257,500.00 from taxes from which amount $141,000.00 was placed to the credit of the sinking fund, leaving $116,500.00 for the Operating Funds. We took this amount, together with the ordinary receipts into the City Treasury, and have run the city within our income.

This is an offer which millions have accepted. And glistening teeth seen everywhere show the good effects.

To fight film

Dental science, after diligent research, has found ways to fight film on teeth. Careful tests have proved them beyond question. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a scientific tooth paste—Pepsodent. So all may regularly apply them. To countless homes they have brought already a new era in teeth cleaning.

How film ruins

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary dentifrice does not effectively combat it. So, despite the tooth brush, it has caused tremendous damage.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It forms the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

It breeds millions of germs and they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Pepsodent combats these film-caused troubles as nothing else has done.

Combats acid

Pepsodent also multiplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause decay.

In these ways it acts as fruit acids do. With every use it multiplies Nature's teeth-protecting forces. Old methods had the opposite effect.

Watch it act

Send for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

A book we send tells the reason for each good effect. Judge what those results will mean to you and yours. Cut out the coupon now.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—Eastern college football eleven, enthused over the success and popularity of the inter-sectional games that have been held in this section during the present season, may make an effort to schedule non-of the Western Conference and southern teams for 1922.

The numerous inter-sectional affairs in the past this season football experts say, have endeavored the spirit of student bodies and interested the public as never before. Alonzo Stagg's Chicago eleven proved its worth against Princeton last Saturday, while Indiana university, Ohio university and several southern eleven have been seen in eastern games. Georgia Tech

MAN KILLED IN MOONSHINE RAID

A raid by Pike county officers on the John Willis home 16 miles southwest of Waverly about noon Monday resulted in the fatal shooting of his brother, Roy Willis, and the capture of Willis, the escape of three others thought to be implicated in the illicit manufacture of moonshine and the capture of one of the biggest and most complete stills yet found by the Pike county authorities. Roy Willis was shot in the head during the opening of the raid about eleven o'clock Monday morning and he died Monday afternoon about four o'clock.

The officers had received many reports of a big still being operated at the Willis home but did not take action until Monday morning when Deputy Sheriff Al Foster, Marshal Lou Robinson and Constable Walter Hankins went in search of the still. The Willis home is on the Livingston road about seven miles west of Latham and only a few miles east of Sinking Springs. As the officers approached within about a 100 yards of the house they noticed two men on a high bank about 300 yards away from the house take to their heels and disappear in the woods. These men are thought to have been lookouts who failed to see the officers approaching in time to give a warning to those in the house.

When the officers reached a point about 100 feet from the house one man came out of the front door and two went out the back door, the trio meeting at the back door. As they came around the side of the house with pistols drawn the officers opened fire at about the same time as the men who started to run as soon as they emptied their revolvers. Roy Willis was the only one hit by a bullet from one of the guns held by the officers.

His brother, John Willis, was captured after a short chase, the third man making a clean getaway.

The officers and John Willis returned to the house and the wounded man was carried inside.

The bullet entered the head about an inch above the ear and probably penetrated the brain which caused death several hours later. Dr. Robert Andre of Waverly was called but the man was beyond medical aid when he arrived.

John Willis had been handcuffed but about 12 o'clock the handcuffs were removed and he was allowed to help prepare a dinner. A short time after being relieved of the handcuffs Willis made a break for liberty. Officers gave chase and recaptured him after a short chase. It was a bold move on the part of Willis, who came near making his escape. Willis was arraigned before Squire T. A. Brown this morning and was fined $300 and costs on a charge of manufacturing moonshine. He was taken to jail, being unable to pay.

The Willis family has lived in Pike county about two years, and in the state about ten years. According to officers in Waverly, Willis has been in the moonshine business for some years, even before prohibition went into effect. The still was arranged in the fire place and was of copper, being one of the neatest arranged affairs taken by the Pike county officers.

According to the authorities Roy Willis was 24 years of age, was a former service man and his home was in Kentucky. He had been spending considerable time of late with his brother and it was reported that he left Kentucky following a getting scrape.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided after years of countless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system. He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what might be called enormous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. All druggists have been appointed agents for Allen's in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.—Advertisement.

LITTLE BOY IS BADLY BURNED

William Scott, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kemp Scott of 2120 Gallia street, rear, was dangerously burned Monday morning when his night clothes caught fire from an open coal grate and for a short time yesterday it was thought the burns would prove fatal. Last night the child's condition took a change for the better and today it was thought he would recover. It was first thought that he had inhaled some of the flames. The burns are all over the body below the neck and caused the little boy untold agony. He suffered much pain all day yesterday but was a little better today.

The boy was in the front room of the home with a younger brother, Henry, while the parents and several other children were on the front porch of the house. The father was just getting ready to leave for work and the children were ready to start for school when William's screams startled them. The child headed for the front door when his flame gown caught fire. It flared up quickly and was almost burned off when he reached the front door where he was met by the father who made one or two grabs at the flaming garment and tore it off, just a small part of the gown near the neck was not burned. The father's hands were severely burned. Dr. Gilbert Mickelthwait was called and he applied soothing lotions and made the child as easy as possible. Yesterday the little boy was removed to the home of his grandmother Mrs. Laura Scott 812 Mill street.

Takes Auto Without Permission; Is Wrecked

When Herbert Wesson, son of Ernest Wesson, of Twelfth street, near Union, took his father's Ford machine out without permission, he did not have any intention of figuring in a wreck, but that is just what happened as the Wesson car and a Maxwell car owned and driven by Harry Hartman, employed by the Portsmouth Ice and Coal Company, collided at Tenth and Gay streets about six o'clock yesterday evening. Hartman was driving east on Tenth and the Ford driven by young Wesson was going south on Gay when the machines crashed at the intersection. Hartman claims the Ford caught the rear end of his Maxwell and turned it completely around and tossed it upon the sidewalk. A rear wheel was broken and the running board damaged. The Ford was the worst damaged. It turned over, the top being wrecked, wind-shield smashed, front axle torn loose and fenders bent. The drivers were not injured.

REV. SHANNON THRILLS LARGE AUDIENCE

The interest in the union evangelistic services at the Bigelow M. E. church was largely centered last night in the coming of Rev. William W. Shannon, from Chicago. Preaching Sunday night in the great Moody Tabernacle to an audience of over five thousand, he caught a late train and hurried to Portsmouth in time for the evening service.

That he more than measured up to the expectations of the audience, will be frankly admitted by all present; and that they appreciated his first message was evidenced by the way in which they moved forward to greet him at the close of the service.

Anyone could see that there was a bond of close relationship between the speaker and the audience. "There is no doubt but they will make a great team for the balance of the meetings, which is only to be expected, since they have worked together frequently."

There was a very marked freedom on the part of the audience last night, showing especially in their request for favorite hymns. The music has been all the more effective because of the close cooperation between the leader and the two pianists, Mrs. D. C. Boyd and Miss Mabel Mackay.

The subject of Mr. Shannon's sermon was "When Devils Laugh." He took his text from several passages in the 9th chapter of Mark, saying in part:

"Because of the disciples failure to lead the demoniac a crowd gathered about; they felt the world was laughing at them. Then Jesus came, and easily cast the demon out.

"Every man and woman is saved so that he may go out and save someone else. If the world the Master spoke of, is only for the disciples, then we have no right to take to ourselves the comfort in the great passage in the 14th of John: 'Let not your hearts be troubled. In my Father's House are many mansions.' When He said 'Ye shall be my witnesses, beginning at Jerusalem.' He meant to begin at Jerusalem first, and then to broaden your circle."

"Men say that there is a great gulf between the church and the world; and there is. That gulf can be bridged with personal evangelism. The world ridicules us because we have a monopoly on Christianity, and yet are not concerned over seeing that the world is taken care of. Your labor never need be in vain if it is only 'in the Lord.' The one who said 'Ye shall be fishers of men,' said also, 'Ye shall catch men.'"

"The disciples went privately to Jesus and asked the cause of their failure, and if we would do the same He would tell us the same thing—'Pray.' We have no power because we have no contact with the great source of power. What we need is a great revival of prayer, for when we pray, God works. The God of the great leaders of the church yet lives; but we have somehow lost our touch with Him. Prayer will restore this touch."

"The Master also said, 'Fasting.' Someone has well defined Fasting, as laying aside the things that hinder you. Have you ever been so interested in saving a man that you forgot to eat your dinner? We need more real concern over the things of God."

"By the way they answered among themselves who should be the greatest. They were human—and there's a lot of this kind of folks around today. I wish we could get so interested in folks that we would lose sight of ourselves. These men seemed to show a strong denominational spirit, not of co-operation, but feeling that theirs was the only way. God has many ways of getting men into the kingdom. We may not like all the ways that are used, but the main thing is to 'catch the fish.'"

"Jesus summed up the failure—because of your unbelief. We step on a train believing it will carry us to our destination, but refuse to step out on the promises of God. 'Go,' He said, 'and lo, I am with you always.' Only when the spirit of God fills our lives and overflows, can we reach out and help our community, and thus take the love of Christ to a dying world."

40 New Members

At the regular meeting of the Ben Hur last night the membership campaign team explained progress and had met with splendid progress and that more than 40 members had been secured with the campaign just half over. Should the last half of the campaign be as successful the goal of 50 new members will be easily reached and passed.

The new members will be given the degree work on Nov. 14 when the twenty-second anniversary of the local order is observed with a big meeting.

Quit Laxatives, Purges; Try NR

NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with so-called laxative pills, colic, oil, purges, and cathartics and force bowel action. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constant dosing necessary.

Why don't you try right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so. NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleansing out. This accomplishes what you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best.

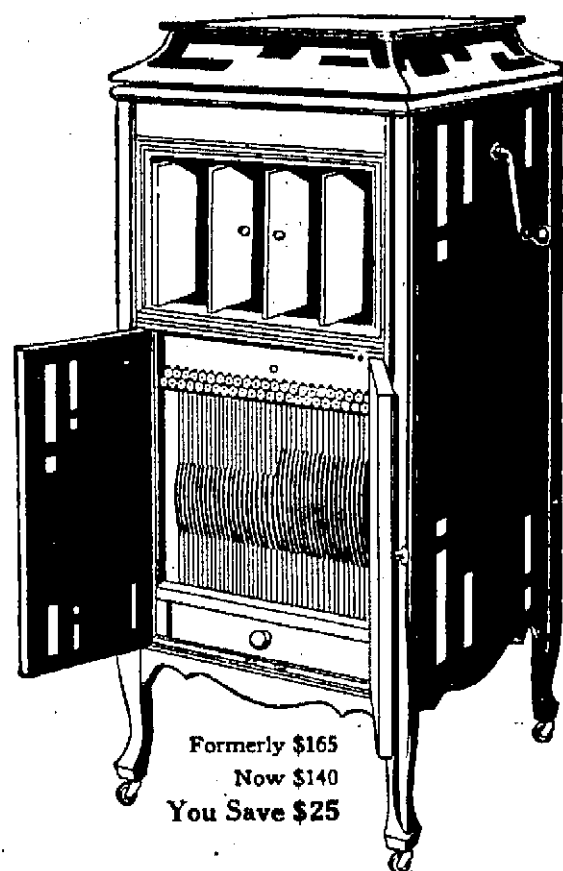

Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is not habit forming and recommended by your druggist.

Are Held On First Degree Murder Charge

The Irontonian this morning said: Claude Lander, 19 years of age, and Henry Panake, about 45, both of Big Ice Creek, near "Kinderhook," are being held in the county jail on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Leonard Hainshaw, 39, also of Big Ice Creek, Sunday afternoon about 1:30, the former charged with actually committing the crime and the latter as an accomplice.

It is claimed that as young Hainshaw was on his way to a ball game in the vicinity of the Panake home, Lander fired twice at him with a 22-caliber Winchester rifle, both shots going wild. Hainshaw went on to the ball game and was batting the ball, it

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.
Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lozy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c

CONFESSIONS OF A MOVIE STAR CHAPTER VIII—THE SCANDAL OF BARNESVILLE

CHERRY SHELDON slipped out of my mind for that week-end. Visions of a summer time in a New England town faded in and faded out while Motherdear renewed the tepid bandages upon my eyeballs. Nanny's notion about the poverty of romance in my past was all wrong. Any girl of 16 has had one dream-romance at least. I had had mine—and Dick Barnes' voice over the phone brought it back to me with painful vividness.

The previous summer I had visited the Vermont home of my Revolutionary ancestors for the first time. And there I met Jimmy Alcott.

With the money I had saved from my first year's work as a star, I had purchased the farm of my forebears had surveyed 150 years ago.

The town of Barnesville touched the boundary of my farm. Jimmy, that summer, never learned that I was a movie actress. It was a part of my vacation plan that nobody should have a chance to talk shop to me.

Now Jimmy's father was the town's "whole show" financially. He owned the quarries. He owned the bank and even the railroad spur which carried his marble to the main line.

I cut back several times to a certain scene. Jimmy—moonlight—a yellow Persian cat—and I!

There was a most exciting "chase" after my fellow. Motherdear, tired of the pursuit and sure that the cat would come back, retreated to a restful corner of the veranda.

Jimmy and I pursued his majesty, Smilodon, but couldn't catch him. Instead, Jimmy caught me as we emerged from opposite sides of the shrubbery and reached for the ent between us.

Smilodon evaded us and made a beautiful lazy leap to a low bough, poised there waving his tail gracefully and eyeing us indifferently.

Jimmy reached for him, clutched him and was badly scratched.

We headed the reptile over to Motherdear and then I washed Jimmy's wounds at the old fountain under the trees, and there we sat and talked in the moonlight—until Motherdear called me!

I could swim and row and ride with the boys. I had gone to high school with them and to dancing school—and they were all alike to me. Just boys! But Jimmy Alcott was different.

Perhaps it was because Jimmy was older—10 years older than I.

Jimmy had been as much a part of that summer as the view or the air or the trees. He came to see us daily. When he failed to appear one evening, Motherdear was a little disturbed.

I might as well know the rumor, she said. Jimmy's father was having some business troubles. Due to the general financial slump, probably Jimmy would explain. I mustn't be fussy.

But Jimmy Alcott never did explain. I never saw him again.

Inside of a week, a dreadful scandal rocked the little town of Barnesville.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

CHERRY LEAVES NO TRACE
BEHIND HER

Three days later the Lawrence moved to Palmesville, a quiet, little suburb about ten miles out of town. Here Mrs. Lawrence found that dreams sometimes come true.

There was a dear, old-fashioned garden, that ran right round the house, and wandered on up a hill in the back as well.

"Yes, and I'd just like to have just five minutes with that girl, that's about all. She had a few truths about herself. I have no patience with home-breakers, and that's what she is. No luck will come to her, wait and see."

"She's had her bad hours, mother. In a way I feel sorry for her, for if she loves Ned as I did why it must have nearly killed her to have him marry someone else."

Mrs. Lawrence's mouth tightened to a fine line. She had her own thoughts on the subject.

feetly willing to economize a bit at first for the sake of the common good," said Mrs. Lawrence, reflectively.

"No good crying over spilt milk, mother. Ned's probably just as happy with things the way they are as he was before, far more so, I'm sure. I had gotten to be so sordid and besides I told you about Arline."

"Yes, and I'd just like to have just five minutes with that girl, that's about all. She had a few truths about herself. I have no patience with home-breakers, and that's what she is. No luck will come to her, wait and see."

At her mother's words the girl's face paled. She knew only too well that Ned would have a hard time to locate them in case he did come on to locate them with that idea in mind; but, Chicago, for all concerned. It was futile to open up old wounds. The past was past.

"Cherry," said Mrs. Lawrence, suddenly, "aren't you and Ned ever happy? It seems so queer that with your love for each other you shouldn't have been able to weather the first few storms, dear."

"Yes, we were wonderfully happy once, before we went to Wellsburg. Everything went wrong after that. We seemed to misunderstand each other all the time, and when we weren't misunderstanding the family was. So you see there wasn't even a fighting chance for us, mother."

"The whole fault lay with Ned. He should have taken you to a place of your own from the start, even if it meant pinching and scraping to pay the rent. Most young couples are per-

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—Do you know a way of making persimmon wine? If so please print it in the paper.
P. W.

I have heard of persimmon pucker, but I never heard of persimmon wine. If you want to make the pucker just sink your teeth in a half ripe persimmon.

Dear Dolly—As you have helped so many girls I thought I would ask you for some help too. Dolly, I am 16 and would like to know if there is any harm in walking home with a boy. What day was November 16, 1907, on, and also what day was May 9, 1907 ou? Dolly what would take blackheads off your face, and what games would be nice to play at a party. I am going to have a birthday party. Now, Dolly, I want you to answer all my questions.

you walked away with the boy it's all right to walk home with him, but don't go places by yourself just get to walk back with a boy. November 16, 1907, came on Saturday, and May 9, 1907, came on Thursday. I haven't any blackheads on my face. I can't take up space with games. Why not ask each guest to suggest a game of some sort. A jolly crowd of young folks will amuse themselves without any effort on your part. You might pop corn or pull taffy, or turn it into a Halloween party if it comes this week or next.

Miss Wise—Could you inform me is there any extra value to a five cent piece dated 1890? On one side it has a large five with thirteen stars and thirteen bars around it and has U. S. of America around the outside of the latter. The reverse side has a sort of shield with six bars.

THANK YOU
As far as I know the coin is only worth its face value.

Dear Miss Wise—I am a girl of 16 and am keeping company with a boy of 19. Now, Dolly, we are both good looking and well respected. Dolly, am I too young to keep company. Dolly, do you think I am too young to start to work in the city? I live in the country. Dolly what kind of work should I do at my age?

BLUE EYES
You are too young to keep steady company and you are too young to come to the city to work. No one would employ a girl of your age, so the next best thing for you to do is to continue your school work for a year or two longer, and then help your mother for awhile.

Dear Dolly—I would like to care for babies while their mothers go out for the afternoon or evening. I would like to earn a little extra this way. I was once mother of a day nursery and have had a lot of experience with little children. I will send you my phone number in case any one wants me.
ANNIE'S READER

Dear Dolly—I am 34 and have a girl friend nearly the same age. Dolly, my other girl friends and I can't depend on her for the truth at all. She is always bragging about going to dances and places where she never goes at all. Besides that she is also bragging about her good looks all the time. Don't you think it looks rather silly for people to pretend to be something they are not. She also adds about two prices to everything she buys. We are thoroughly disgusted with her. Wouldn't you be, too? WEST END READERS

No, she wouldn't worry me a bit. Lots of people let their imagination run wild at times, but no one takes them seriously. If it does her any good to think she is pretty, don't spoil the illusion. She'll wake up some sweet day and find it was only a dream. As for telling "fib" you can break her of that if you want to go to the trouble of contradicting her every time she tells one.

Dear Miss Wise—I have been invited to a Halloween party and the invitation is written in verse, it reads, "Bring a witty nut with you, not a chestnut, something new, Friday eve at seven is right. However dark may be the night." And I have been requested to reply, saying if I would accept, so would like to answer in verse. Will you please suggest a few lines through your column as soon as possible.
BETTY W.

I'll join you in the merry scene that's celebrating Halloween. The nut I've picked to go with me. Grows not on vine nor bush, nor tree. We'll be there prompt as you suggested.

If on the way were not molested. Here's another reply:

I'll come to your party and bring a nut.

He's powerful witty, but not a chestnut.

We'll start in time to get there at seven And expect to go home along about seven.

BLUE EYES

Miss Dolly Wise—Dolly, could you locate a place in a private home or some good place? I have a boy eight years old and will have to take him with me. Will appreciate anything you can do for me. I have this woman's name and address.

A FRIEND—If you can do any good at home, or be of any help to your mother, stay with her of course, but do not go with undesirable people just to please her. It would be better to leave home and get work in some other city, if you do not want to remain here and not stay at home. It is always best for a girl to obey her mother, but when she has an unusual mother who wants her to associate with people who are beneath her, I think she does right in refusing to obey her.

"Evidence" Thrown To Pavement, Say Officers But Some Of It Rescued

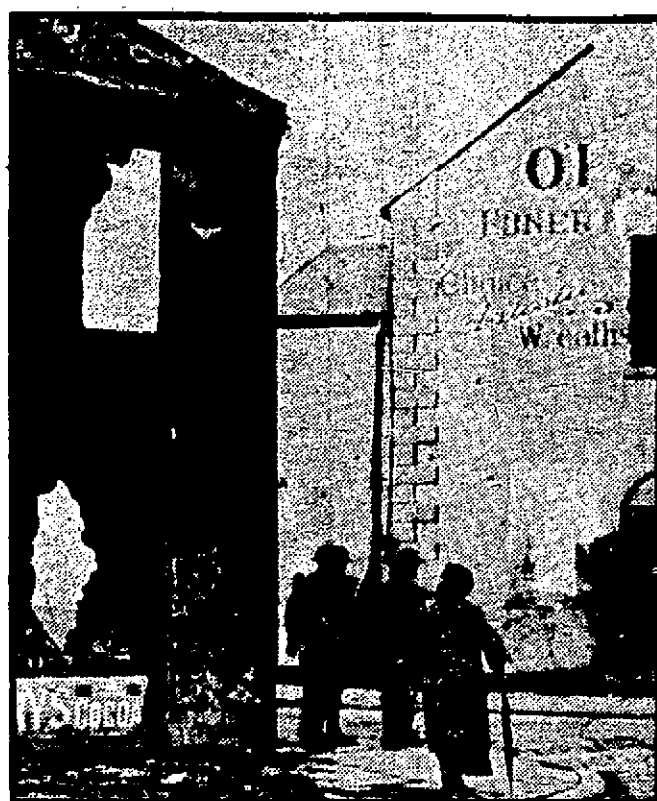

Arrested by Prohibition Enforcement Officers Hutchinson and Jones for alleged violating the prohibition laws, Charles Leonard and John Music, both of this city, denied guilt upon being arraigned before Judge McManes Monday. The defendants were released from custody on bond, and pending their hearing, which will be held at the county jail office Thursday afternoon. Leonard is charged with transporting and Music is charged with possessing liquor. The men were in Leonard's automobile near Fourteenth and Broadway streets when they were apprehended by the officers and it is claimed Music attempted to destroy the evidence by throwing a glass jar, which the officers say contained moonshine liquor, to the brick pavement. The jar was broken but the officers claim to have recovered a small amount of the fluid which remained in the metal lid which they are holding as evidence. The accused men have retained Attorney H. L. Small to defend them.

A Beautiful Woman Is Always a Well Woman

Springfield, Ohio.—I wish to say a few words in regard to Dr. Pierce's medicines. I was troubled with female disorders, and was generally run down. Every one thought I would have tuberculosis. I had a cough and fainting spells. Through my sister I heard of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. I took them faithfully and gradually I gained. My cough disappeared and I put on flesh and got strong again. I took no other medicine at the time. I am perfectly satisfied with Dr. Pierce's medicines and can say they can be relied upon.—Mrs. Anna Rheinheimer, 725 W. Main St. Dr. Pierce's famous remedies can be procured of your neighborhood druggist in tablets or liquid, and you can have confidential medical advice free by writing Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Leonhardt Says

External treatments seldom cure. Nor do surgical operations. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowels are weak, the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must first free the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Obstructions and cutting won't do it. J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set to work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROD, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROD is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can at once be found at Wurster Bros. and druggists everywhere, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—Advertisement.

D. A. R. NOTES

"Home and Country" is the official motto of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. These words are a part of its official seal. They express its objects and the deepest meanings of the society. Its members are the lineal descendants of the Revolutionary soldiers and patriots who achieved American independence. The society was organized in the fall of 1890, at Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Caroline Scott Harrison, wife of the then President Benjamin Harrison, was its first president general. It was incorporated by Congress Feb. 20, 1891, under the name of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, for patriotic, historical and educational purposes. The society was authorized to hold real and personal estate in the United States, as far as might be necessary to its lawful ends, to an amount not exceeding $500,000. This amount has since been increased to $1,000,000. This act of incorporation of the said society was ordered to report annually to the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, concerning its proceedings, and said secretary communicate to Congress such portions thereof as he might deem of national interest and importance. The society now has more than 112,000 active members. The national headquarters are in Memorial Continental hall, said to be the most beautiful building in Washington, inspired, financed and maintained by women. The local D. A. R. chapter was named for Major General Joseph Spencer of Connecticut. He was a man of courage and gave valuable aid to the revolutionists during the entire war. His granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Sloan Cotton, of 712 Sixth street, organized the chapter here May 15, 1898, was its first general and is one of its most esteemed members.

Public Opinion

(Continued from Page One) subordinate agencies before permitting the executive to be brought into the situation directly. He is not unaware of the possibilities of the situation and that ultimately he may have to become involved himself. For the moment, the informal influence of the executive has been exerted to bring both the carrier and the labor chiefs before the United States Railroad Board so that the equities in the disputes may be established and the results given the public. Just as the coal miners gave up at the last minute because they didn't "want" to fight "Uncle Sam" so it is expected that the Brotherhood chiefs will postpone, if not withdraw their strike order, pending a decision by the United States Railroad Board. Government officials may not be taking seriously enough the threats of the labor leaders but it is a fact that hardly an official here expects a strike to materialize.

Beer And Wine

(Continued from Page One) characterized it as an "outrage, utterly indefensible." While the new rules, covering comprehensively the use of wine and spirituous liquors are medicines as well as beer, fix a limit of 2 1/2 gallons, the equivalent to a case, on the amount of beer that may be prescribed to the same person at one time, no arbitrary limit is placed on the number of prescriptions one person may obtain within a given period.

Except that the amount for a single prescription is limited to two quarts, the wine regulations are the same, while spirituous liquors are limited to one pint within any ten day period.

Beer In Case Quantities. The new rules cover comprehensively the use of beer, wines and spirituous liquors as medicines. The amount of beer, a physician may prescribe at one time is limited to 2 1/2 gallons, the equivalent of a case, but no arbitrary limit is placed upon the number of such prescriptions as physician may write or the same person may obtain within a given period.

Half Gallon Wine Limit. Two quarts of wine was the limit put upon a single prescription for that beverage, but otherwise the regulations are the same as for beer.

Spirituous Liquors are limited to one pint within any ten days' period and alcohol for external use was limited to a pint to the same person at one time.

Prescriptions for these medicines may be filled only by a licensed pharmacist who is also a retail druggist.

No Duplication. Prescriptions are not refillable and the regulations declare that a pharmacist "should refuse to fill and prescription for liquor if he has any reason to believe that physicians are prescribing for other than medical quantities of intoxicating liquor in excess of the amount necessary for medicinal purposes."

Rules For Physicians. In connection with the issuance of prescriptions the regulations

Alc and Porter, Too. Besides beer, the regulations permit the use for medical purposes of other intoxicating malt liquors such as ale, porter, malt extracts and similar fermented malt liquors containing one half of one percent or more of alcohol by volume.

Manufacture of these medical preparations is confined to duly qualified brewers on brewery premises and may be sold by them only in bottles and closed casks.

Must Have Permit. The right to prescribe distilled spirits, wines and malt liquors for medicinal purposes is confined by the regulations to such physicians as have obtained permits to prescribe intoxicating liquor. Such a physician, the regulations state, may prescribe "for a person upon whom he is in attendance, if after physical examination of such person, or if physical examination is impracticable, upon the best information obtainable, the physician believes that the internal or external use of such liquor as a medicine by such person is necessary and will afford relief to him from some known ailment."

PASTORS OF FOUR STATES UNITED IN THEIR PRAISE

Four Ministers, Though From Different Parts of the Country, Have the Same Attitude With Regard to Nerv-Worth. They Write Letters Recommending It and These Letters Offer Indisputable Evidence.

Nerv-Worth gives real results and is a real medicine. It does not act as a mere stimulant, nor depends upon alcoholic stimulation to produce results. Rev. M. Tate, Pontiac Ave., Dayton, Ohio. "For five years I was in a very nervous condition," said Rev. Tate. "I couldn't find any relief, it seemed, until I took a bottle of Nerv-Worth. I didn't have any nerve force to dissuade my food, I could eat only a few things. I was advised by my doctor and to eat any food I could get. As a result, my stomach, and cause terrible bloating, my blood was also in very bad condition, and my circulation poor. My legs would get cold and numb and my hands would also get the same way. I am now nervous no more, and I can eat anything any time. My stomach and digestion are in fine condition. I have no more blurring, my circulation is good and there is no numbness and cold feeling in my legs and hands. I am feeling fine and have regained my health and vigor. Nerv-Worth changed everything."

Burglars Caught At Circleville

The Chillicothe News Advertiser Monday said:
Robert Berry and Henry Bryant, alias William Holmes, two negroes, wanted for burglary of the James Hight general store at Highby's, the night of October 13, were captured by police at Circleville, Sunday, after Berry tried to sell a gun at an N. & W. section house.

Berry confessed to the Circleville authorities and Holmes, after a grilling by Chief Fox, admitted his name was Henry Bryant and that his home was at Jackson, Tenn. He admitted robbing the Hight store. When arraigned in police court, both men pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary and were bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500 each.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is Quickest Relief Known

Don't stay stuffed-up. Quit blowing and snuffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up a cold and ends all gripe misery.

The first dose opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages of head; stops nose running; relieves headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing. "Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance. Tastes nice. Contains no quinine. Insist on Pape's. —Advertisement.

Wow! Strike Is Certain; Many Have "Walked Out"

In spite of all agitation against it, the strike of the Portsmouth city employees is certain. Many have "walked out" today. The strike is certain. Many have "walked out" today. The strike is certain. Many have "walked out" today.

very eyes may behold the "walk out." It's complete. All Portsmouth's very best musical, dramatic talent, has joined and the "Walk out" is on and will continue for ten days at the Winter Garden in City Auditorium. Every afternoon the children and high school crowds and every night the society crowd, all are enthusiastic. All are happy, all are enjoying the beginning of this strike into "Happy Days" rehearsals. The ending will be still more enjoyable. Before we are through two more strikes will be on. One a strike to put out tickets amongst the members of the Daughters of American Revolution and their friends to be sold, and the other a strike for reservations of best seats at Hager's drug store, Corner Gallia and John streets.

THE COMMITTEE.

B. & O. Leaders Do Not Think Traffic Will Be Paralyzed

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 25—In response to inquiry at the Baltimore and Ohio General Offices today as to what plans and preparations were being made by the company to meet the strike should it finally come about, it was said by Vice-President Galloway, who is in charge of operations, that the management is fully alive to the impending situation and giving it consideration from every angle.

"Up to the present time, however, our plans are based on crossing the bridge when we come to it. It is the expectation and belief that should the Brotherhoods, because of their unwillingness to accept the conclusions of the United States Railroad Labor Board, carry out their plans as indicated and attempt to "paralyze" or even interfere with the vital operations necessary for the welfare of over a hundred millions of people of the United States, there will be found among the employees already engaged and those now out of employment a sufficient number of red blooded Americans and loyal employees to stand by the country. It is the earnest hope that such a situation will not materialize and that before the time the ominous hour arrives the situation will have cleared sufficiently to assure adjustment without disturbance."

Letters From Our Readers

Harrison Township, O., Oct. 23, '21.
Editor Portsmouth Times:—

"And I answered and said unto them, I tell you that if these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out."

The above scripture was forcibly brought to my mind while considering the Pharisean attack that is being made upon our particular friend, E. O. McCowen. The unwarranted, unscrupulous, unfair attack that is being pushed forward, from behind, a campaign of poison gas barrage, promulgated by a few latter day Pharisees. We do not propose to place all who are engaged in this latter attack on E. O. McCowen, in the above category, because Christ himself said of those who were crucifying Him, "They know not what they do," and we have many personal friends who are wrong, dead wrong on this subject, and those are not the fellows that we wish to share in this castigation. Having given their flamed platform a careful (not prayerful) and conscientious third reading, we feel like replying, that we do not believe as their inferential platform would have us to do, that Messrs. Brunt, Gerlach and Riekey, have, or would have if elected, sufficient authority to change any law enacted by our legislature, or that Ed. McCowen has not given every teacher who has applied for a certificate a square deal without personal prejudice.

Fearing lest the length of this communication exhaust the patience of The Times, causing the boss to use that much dreaded blue pencil, we now shall endeavor to wind it up in a "Haze of Glory," by "bauching our hits."

Will say first that we do not believe that this triumvirate are either capable or competent to "raise the standard of education in this county." If they should be elected, and if by any peradventure they were able to make the examinations more difficult, the result would be that they would be compelled to advertise "widely" for teachers as they now propose to do for a superintendent.

We refuse to believe that these three citizens will, if elected, make the matter of education paramount to their own business interest, or that they will refuse to affiliate with any political clique, because their present method of procedure already savors strongly of nasty political methods.

Concluding we wish to warn the boys and their cohorts of valiant and slanders that you had best come out in the open, because there are a host of good fellows engaged right now in gathering fagots which they are figuring on applying to your holes, and smoke you out; out from behind your barrage of poison gas, where it is proposed to expose not only it but yourselves as well to God's eternal sunshine of truth, having no fear that it will lastingly be dispelled.

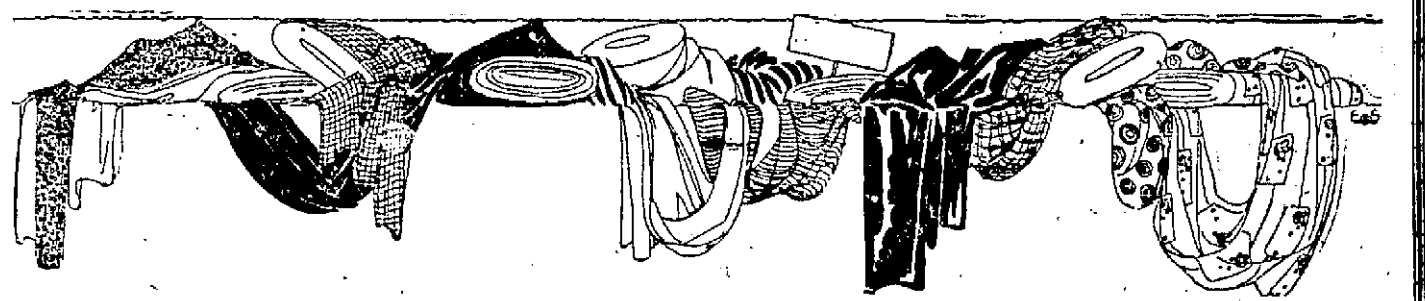

Respectfully,
LOUDEM LINDSEY.

Autos Collide; Piece Of Broken Windshield Severs Artery; Child Almost Bled To Death

Gwendolyn Messer, 4 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Messer, 1614 Eighth street, was seriously injured Monday afternoon when her right temple artery was severed in an automobile crash at West avenue and Gallia street, New Boston.

The cutting of the artery by broken glass from the windshield caused the little girl to lose considerable blood and according to Dr. T. H. McCann of New Boston, who was immediately called the child would have lived only a short time longer had the flow of blood not been stopped when it was. Although very weak today the child was reported as resting a little better.

The little girl was in a Stutz automobile driven by her aunt, Mrs. Geo. Stutz of Middletown who is here visiting with relatives at New Boston and was being taken home by Mrs. Stutz. Mrs. Stutz was driving on Gallia street when a Buick coupe owned by J. T. McCormick, of 718 Sixth street, which came onto Gallia street from West avenue. When the machine crashed the windshield of the Stutz was broken and flying glass cut the child's head and face.

The five inch cut across the temple severing the artery required about 15 stitches to close it. Other small cuts also required stitches but they were not serious.

The Stutz machine had the front badly damaged while the McCormick machine escaped with only a very slight damage.

SOCIETY

Miss Julia Arbogast received the members of the T. O. M. club last evening at her home on Park avenue as a post-nuptial favor to two recent brides, Mrs. Gus Putzek and Mrs. Ralph Brandel. A color scheme of yellow and white was used in the decorations throughout the house. The two brides were presented with a beautiful basket of lovely gifts by Miss Mabel Lavene Stalder, attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stalder. The little miss was dressed as a bride and slowly wended her way into the parlor to the soft, sweet strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, played by Miss Edna Arbogast on the violin. She carried a basket of gifts in each arm. The evening was spent in games, music and contests. Miss Edna Arbogast delighted those present with several violin selections. In the guessing contest, Mrs. Gus Putzek received the first prize and Miss Alice Maltzer the second prize. Later a delicious lunch was served to Mrs. Putzek, Mrs. Brandel, the Misses Louise and Margaret Torges, Helen Uhl, Alice Maltzer, Margaret Werner, Ethel Knoche, Dertina Kellman and Selma Wolff. The next meeting of the club will be a Halloween party at the home of Miss Helen Uhl on Sinton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Davidson and son Chalmers arrived home today. Mr. Davidson from New York City, where he purchased goods for Marting's store, and Mrs. Davidson and son Chalmers from a visit with friends in Massillon, and with her sister, Mrs. Pearl Miltland, in Cleveland.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Quinn of Glover street next Monday evening.

Mrs. R. P. Haislip delightfully entertained the members of the Monday evening Kensington club and a few friends last evening at her home, 1420 Park avenue. Mrs. Haislip had planned a little surprise for the members of the club by turning the meeting into a Halloween celebration and the members surprised her by coming dressed in fancy and comical mask costumes. They not only surprised their hostess, but had her "guessing" as to their identity. The house was beautifully decorated in yellow and black Halloween novelties and cut flowers. An unusually beautiful basket of gorgeous red dahlias graced the living room. The dining room was lovely in its decorations of yellow and black. Yellow shaded candles were used in the table decorations and small black cats were used as place cards. The favors were small yellow baskets filled with salted almonds. The evening was spent informally in games and music on the Edison phonograph. Later a delicious three-course luncheon was served to the Misses Min Hainer, Lena Hainer, Mary and Elsie Watkins, Mabel Knox, Mabel Legler, Mary Cottle, Agnes Seidel, Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. Frank A. Colman and attractive little daughter, Jane Colman.

Mrs. Samuel M. Johnson of Second street was called to Connersville, Indiana, this morning by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Caroline Heron. She received a long distance telephone message last evening from her brother, James Heron, telling of her mother's illness. Mrs. Heron is 92 years of age and grave fears are entertained for her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordon and daughter Grace of Seventh street are leaving Thursday morning for Chicago to attend the wedding of their sister, Miss Nettie Gordon, and Mr. A. Brandel, which will take place Sunday afternoon in Douglas hall.

Autos Collide On West Side

Ford touring cars driven by Jack Warden, city fireman, 812 Front street and Oscar McGraw who lives on the Murphy farm at Rushtown, were badly damaged in a head-on collision on the West Side in front of the Lincoln Pool house about 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

Warden was driving towards Portsmouth and McGraw was going toward Rushtown. Warden claims the lights of the other car blinded him and this caused him to drive too far towards the middle of the road.

The machines met head-on, the fronts being badly damaged. The windshield was broken on the Warden machine. A wheel was torn off and fender damaged on the McGraw machine. Mrs. McGraw was in the machine with her husband and she was badly frightened and suffered a nervous shock following the accident.

Guilty Of Assault

An echo of an altercation which occurred Sunday and which grew out of an argument over the merits of the mayoralty candidates came in Municipal court Tuesday when Alfred Moler pleaded guilty to assault and battery upon Henry Cooper and Judge Sprague ordered the defendant to pay a fine of $25 and costs.

Cooper, who is an adherent of Matthews, Republican candidate, exhibited a badly swollen jaw as a mark of the encounter. He stated that he was pitching horse shoes on Front street Sunday when Moler, who he declared was under the influence of liquor, approached him for an opinion as to who would be elected mayor and accused him of being a poor union man for following the Republican standard bearer. He said that Moler insisted that Gallemann would be easily elected and asserted that his assault was the aggressor all through the trouble. Moler was represented by Attorney D. L. Small.

Drivers Dismissed

Joseph Hladick, New Boston, and William Kinney, South Portsmouth, appeared in Municipal court Tuesday to meet complaints filed by the other charging reckless driving but after hearing their stories Judge Sprague dismissed the complaints for lack of convincing evidence. The machine of the defendants floundered in a collision near Sciotoville Sunday afternoon and each accused the other of negligence. Both cars were slightly damaged.

Warning To "Halloween Celebrators"

Stern warning has been issued by Judge N. B. Gilliland of the probate court that old or young people who do damage under the pretense of being engaged in Halloween pranks, need expect no mercy from him.

"It is really a shame the way some young people have been going about damaging property and helping themselves to other people's belongings," said Judge Gilliland. "All of these boys and girls are old enough to know that they are violating the law, and I intend to administer the law if they are brought before me. This thing of making Halloween an excuse to destroy property and annoy other people often for weeks ahead of Halloween must stop. At the same time I want to warn all that Halloween celebrations must be confined to harmless pranks. People have no more license to destroy or deface property on that night than on any other occasion, and if they break the law they must suffer."

To Extend Governor Davis Warm Welcome

Plans for tomorrow night's banquet to be tendered Governor Harry L. Davis and official party from Columbus after their inspection of the proposed game preserve and reforestation station on the West Side tomorrow afternoon, were completed today noon at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The directors were confident the C. of C. members would turn out tomorrow night to impress upon the officials from Columbus that the citizens of Portsmouth are anxious to obtain the game preserve for this county.

As many had not sent in their requests for tickets this morning, the directors were busy this afternoon distributing tickets to those who are interested in the project. The attendance is limited to 150 and the directors are confident there will be this many present at the banquet, which will be held at the Washington Hotel at eight o'clock.

Besides the address to be made by the governor and others of his party, Attorney Henry T. Bannan will speak on "The Value of a Game Preserve as an Attraction for Tourists and Sportsmen," while Vallee Harold will talk on "The Value of a Game Preserve as an Asset to Scioto County."

Automobile Goes Over Bank; Catches Fire; Is Consumed

A Buick roadster owned and driven by Raymond Aeh of near Walt's Station was destroyed by fire when it left the road and was wrecked on Zwickert Hill near Walt's Station Sunday evening.

Aeh was on the way home from Sciotoville where he delivers milk daily. The headlights of another car blinded him and he drove the machine off the road. His brakes also refused to work and the machine went down a bank at the side of the road and turned over. It caught fire and was completely destroyed, young Aeh not being able to check the flames which consumed everything but the steel parts of the machine. Hazelbeck will insure you.

RUMOR ABOUT SALE OF ASHLAND PLANT

It has been persistently rumored that the American Rolling Mill Company has opened negotiations for the purchase of the interests of the Ashland Iron and Mining Company of Ashland.

When called over the long distance telephone today by The Times, W. B. Seaton, president of the company stated: "So far as I know there are no negotiations of this kind on at present. There was some talk of this kind several weeks ago, but I have heard nothing more about the rumored sale."

Mr. Seaton inferred that the negotiations were not off entirely and may be resumed at any time. The plant is one of the largest in Ashland and its general manager is a former well known Portsmouth man, S. Coles Peebles. He was in Cincinnati today on business.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS NO. 1

2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9-and-10

We had hoped to conduct our campaign for election to the County School Board without resorting to personalities, but the glaring, costly, half paged advertisement in The Times last night, with its multitude of questions and personal mention, in bristling black type, would seem to require a definite reply, and I shall endeavor to make it.

First, our opponents claim that we have not, in our modest advertisements to acquaint the voting public with the main issues of the campaign, given FACTS. It is very evident that the FACTS WE HAVE PRESENTED have been SO TRUE, SO SHARP, that, altho' they were of an impersonal nature, they have pricked deeply under the skin, and inspired the broad-side counter fire in the form of laughing gas.

Truly they are using German tactics of gas and camouflage. They complain about FACTS, but a review of their discourse in last night's paper discloses the one and only fact that 10 questions were asked — and not one single constructive statement was made! NOT A FACT—

NOT ONE—10 QUESTIONS! SUCH SUBTLE FUGUE WILL NEVER DECEIVE THE INTELLIGENT VOTERS OF SCIOTO COUNTY.

That whole advertisement is characteristic of the methods employed and the man who has imposed them upon our rural schools for the past number of years—pernicious, unwholesome, noxious, undignified, unprofessional,—and distinctly emphasizes the exact and precise things we are fighting against—the egoism, the shallow arrogance and domineering, and autocratic, and dictatorial attitude of the rural school administration.

So much for the analysis of their advertisement—Now I will take up the questions—at least those that were directed toward our policies, and give the people frank and definite facts.

Why has the writer used the word "Since"? I have ALWAYS—not "Since,"—opposed E. O. McCowen for County School Superintendent, and I am sincerely thankful and deeply grateful—to the Ohio Legislature that I, with many other earnest and dauntless men and women, have been given the opportunity to express our disapproval at the polls. It would seem from the prominence given this question in their advertisement that to oppose Mr. McCowen constitutes an unpardonable crime, and that my opposition to him is a good and sufficient cause for my defeat. I plead guilty of the offense. The Jury—the Public—will render its verdict.

Yes! We'll advertise "widely" that a VACANCY IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT EXISTS. It is only to be expected that those of narrow vision, or of unprogressive ideals, would not comprehend and, if they did comprehend, resent a term so foreign to their policies as the word "widely."

OUR WORTHY OPPONENTS WOULD SACRIFICE THE WELFARE AND BIRTHRIGHTS OF THE THOUSANDS OF SCIOTO COUNTY SCHOOL CHILDREN TO PLEASE ONE MAN—SIMPLY BECAUSE HIS HOME IS IN SCIOTO COUNTY!

To us the Boys and Girls and their schools are of more consequence than any one man in Scioto County or any other County. No, Sir,—if we are elected,—the man we hire for County Superintendent will have to show more, many more, and more valuable qualifications than mere residence!

WHO KNOWS? WE MIGHT EVEN BE ABLE TO INDUCE ONE OF THOSE WORTHY SCIOTO COUNTY EDUCATORS WHO HAVE BEEN LITERALLY DRIVEN OUT OF THE COUNTY BY THE METHODS AND PETTY EXACTIONS OF MR. MCCOWEN, TO RETURN.

We never can call back those who having become disgusted with school conditions under the present system, have given up teaching and gone out into other field to labor. But Scioto County has lost some excellent teachers who have made a brilliant success elsewhere—and more and more of the better and more conscientious class of teachers will leave our county if conditions under which they labor are not changed. Few indeed, are the ambitious, intelligent, broad minded teachers who willingly care to sacrifice their high ideals and work under such handicaps as have been imposed upon them.

We desire, therefore, to make Scioto County a safe and happy home for good Scioto County Teachers—and they will always have preference.

Will our opponents elect a Scioto County Man? Yes. Whom? E. O. McCowen.

Will any other Scioto County man have a chance? No matter how much better he may be qualified? Not any.

Our opponents are committed. We are not!

THE OFFICE WILL BE OPEN TO EVERY SCIOTO COUNTY MAN WHO CARES TO APPLY.

Now in closing, let me state that I hope this is the last time it will be necessary for us to enter into personal controversy. We have stated our position fully. The public knows our platform. And we are convinced that the people will be able to see the truth and discount the propaganda which may be forthcoming from our opponents.

The Superintendent of the Scioto County Schools gets a good salary—Naturally he doesn't want to part with it. The opposition has a strong financial backing, because of the pecuniary interest of the adherents who wish to hold their jobs. The People's Candidates have no such organization supporting them, and they do not think it necessary to put our people to useless expense. We are depending solely upon the spirit, upon the loyalty and the sincere devotion of the people to a worthy cause to win this campaign.

AM I FOR GOOD SCHOOLS?

My record covering 40 years service is an open book. I was a member of the Board when we voted free text books to all children, probably the first township in the state to do this;

I was a member of the Board and a tax payer when both new buildings were erected and equipped at Lucasville, when Centralization was effected—again one among the first in the state.

And again when our Board sued the Budget Committee for cutting our Tax Levy, which suit was won in the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Ask any teacher of any grade in Lucasville Schools in the past 40 years, how I stand.

I have no hesitancy in saying that J. Frank Rickey and Jacob Gerlach not only have the vision, but the intelligence and the will to work and build for better things in Rural Schools.

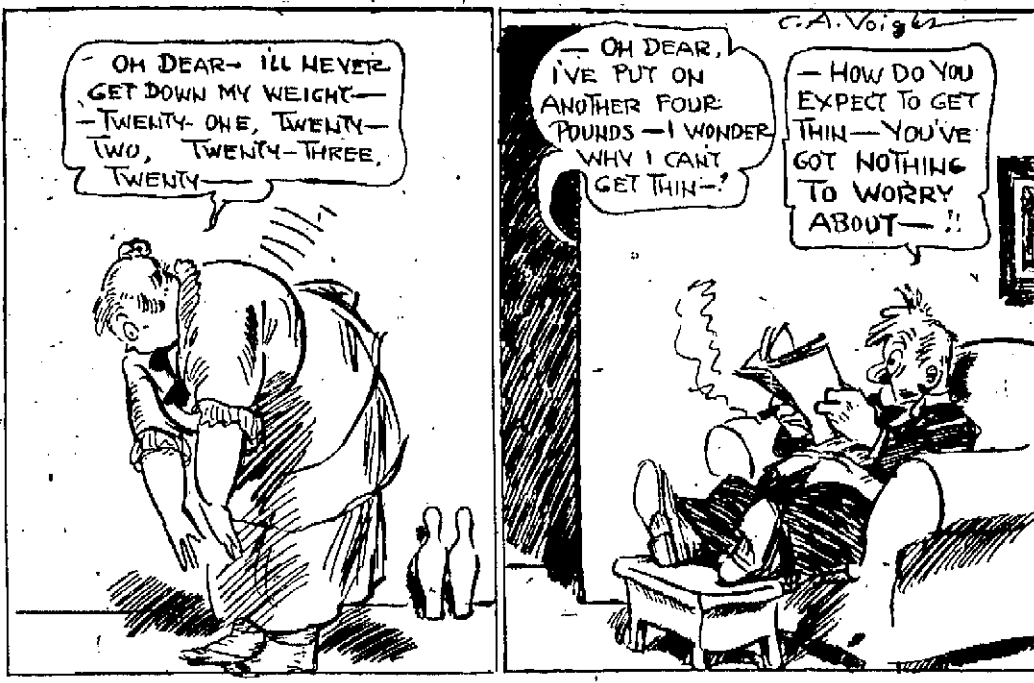

Vote for all these men, let your decision be conclusive.

Conference Teams Have Real Games Ahead

Real Practice Tonight, Boys

The Smokehouse football team will practice long and hard tonight in York Park. Every player is requested to be on hand as a number of new players will be tried out before the game.

State Is Tuning Up For Chicago Game

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 25.—Practice for the Ohio State-Chicago game, to be played in Chicago, November 5, will be started tomorrow by the Buckeye football squad. Work-outs will be moderate at first, increasing by degrees, according to Coach Wilce. That the Chicago game appears to be one of the most dangerous he ever attempted to prepare a team for, was one of Coach Wilce's statements today. Arrangement is being made for a number of special trains to carry rooters to Chicago in case the railroad strike does not materialize.

Eligible Lists Are Submitted

Manager Harry Doerr was in Iron on Monday and submitted the eligible list of the Smokehouse players for the game with the Tanks next Sunday in Cantonville. The officials will be Hamilton and Eichenlaub of Columbus. They officiated at this game last year and gave splendid satisfaction to both teams.

Wild Cats Are Seeking Revenge

The Ironontonian this morning said: The Wildcats returned with a sad tale from the River City Sunday evening having met with a defeat by a 13 to 6 score. The locals in no way feel discouraged over the beating and only ask for another trial at the River City lands.

They made their only score in the third quarter on a forward pass from Oviy to Perdue who raced forty yards for a touchdown. The forward pass was the only perfect completed

VOLLEY BALL

The Buckeye Volleyball league opened last night when the First Presbyterian met the Strollers—plus the White Mules, and took them into camp for three straight, by the scores of 21-15, 21-15, 21-14. The Strollers showed a lack of practice, that will soon be remedied. Shorty Broadbeck played the star game, while Glickner was the star for the Strollers. It was Glickner's first game, but he played a fine one and after a few weeks practice will be one of the best players in the Buckeye lineup.

First Presbyterian—W. H. Hopkins, Captain Wagner, Bryant, Broadbeck and Blake.

The Bankers lost first place in the Portsmouth league last night, when they met the High School Faculty. The Faculty won the first game, 21-7 and the Bankers the second 21-10. The rubber was terrifically fought, going to 20-20, but the Faculty managed to win the winning tally over, taking the odd game.

Bankers—Robert McNaughton, Capt. Erhardt, Hopkins, Brumby, Uhl, Kulesman.

The Ministers broke their hard luck, and got out of the cellar, last night, at the Moose hall, when they took two out of three from the Smoke House team. The first game the Ministers won 21-11 the second was hard fought the two teams running along neck and neck. The Smoke House finally won 21-19. GOOD NEWS FROM W. VA.

MANY persons throughout the country must have gained the impression from the accounts sent out of the recent labor disturbances that the mining counties in the southwestern part are a benighted, lawless region. It is with pleasure, therefore, that one notes the wide publicity which is being given another kind of story which has been sent out from the same section—a story of enthusiasm for good roads and good schools.

Good roads are of the first importance. Once they have been established schools will naturally follow. Moonshining, feuds and other forms of lawlessness have flourished in the mountains largely because the people living there were cut off from communication with the remainder of the country. Isolated, they were out of touch with the trend of modern thought and came to be more or less of a law to themselves. Now the trails are being transformed into highways, and new railroads are reaching into the mountains to tap the rich coal deposits. With this broadening of their horizon, the people have lost sympathy with lawlessness, as is attested by the fact that 1,229 citizens volunteered, for service to preserve order in Logan county during the late miners' troubles.

There has been considerable illiteracy because the West Virginia compulsory education law does not require a child to go to school if the nearest one is more than two miles away, and there are many places where schools have not been established within that distance. But the state superintendent of education, a mountain man himself, is working energetically to remedy conditions, and in some localities bus lines have been established to transport the children.

These things will tell. The mountain people have heard the call of progress and are responding. Lawlessness cannot survive in such an atmosphere.

KU KLUX'S DEATH KNELL

ALTHOUGH the house rules committee's decision not to call any more witnesses is taken as presaging a recommendation that there be no congressional investigation of the Ku Klux Klan, promoters of the "invisible empire" will find no ground for satisfaction in the result of the preliminary inquiry. It is not yet certain that "Imperial Wizard" Simmons and his close associates in the enterprise will not be called upon to answer for some of their actions in organizing the band of hate. Whether or not they are, the disappearance of the Ku Klux Klan is assured and that is the fact of most importance to patriotic Americans.

If Klan purposes are as innocent as Simmons declares them to be there is no sense in anyone belonging to it. According to the "imperial wizard's" exposition, the people are left to understand that the whole business was buncombe. Men who signed up and paid their money in the belief that they were joining a secret mob through which they would vent their prejudices and "uphold the law" by unlawful procedure will feel that they have been imposed upon. If Simmons and his "goblins" and "kleagles" really had no intention of carrying on according to intimations given. Those who joined in good faith what they believed to be a great popular movement of the patriotic know now that they were received as to the numbers involved. Official statements were that the membership amount to more than half a million; it was in reality less than 100,000. The exposure that has been made will kill the organization.

Whatever the concepts of those who originated it, the Ku Klux has been demonstrated to possess potentialities for evil which cannot be tolerated. The one gratifying revelation made at Washington is as to the small number of men who could be found to unite with such an organization as Simmons designed. On the whole, Americans are devoted to the principles on which the nation was founded. Public opinion condemned the Ku Klux as soon as it was dragged into the light.

THE WORLD'S WHEAT CROP

LEAVING Russia out of the calculation, the world's wheat crop this year is, according to government estimates, just 4,000,000 bushels less than the five-year annual average production before the war began. In that peaceful time Russia supplied her own needs and had a surplus of 160,000,000 bushels for export. Apparently, then, there is a world shortage this year of approximately 164,000,000 bushels, without allowing for any supplies going to Russia, which will have to look abroad for wheat.

The pre-war five-year average of our wheat production was 686,000,000 bushels. Last year we had a crop totaling 787,000,000 bushels and this year it is estimated American fields yielded 754,000,000 bushels of wheat. Government statisticians figure that our own population requires for food and seed approximately six bushels per capita, or 616,000,000 bushels. It would seem we should have about 118,000,000 bushels for export. But in July and August this year our exports of wheat and flour amounted to 97,000,000 bushels, so that there is not much of a surplus left from the estimated crop of 1921.

The apparent world shortage, exclusive of Russia, is accentuated this year by a seeming return to normal consumption of wheat in all the countries. The enormous drain from this country during the last summer indicated the purpose to have wheat. The demand continuing, prices naturally would be bid up, even though we kept the usual surplus within our borders. In another year or two, however, there is apt to be a heavy over-production of wheat unless there be crop failures, and this without allowing anything for Russia's return to the ranks of producing countries. Some of the European nations have made astonishing progress toward restoration of normal production, a few exceeding it, but others are still below their pre-war average. When they catch up there will be plenty of wheat and that will affect prices.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MONTYKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—At the opening night of his play "Male Street," Sinclair Lewis cabled from London to his producer, "Unaccounted as I am, to admit I thank you for New York apparently liked his play as well as America liked his novel."

The "I knew him when" crowd was on hand to cheer. This slim, red-headed young author from Sauk Centre, Wis., has given a new impetus to American letters. He is the founder of a new style of novel writing in contrast to the romantic output of Harold MacGrath, Robert W. Chambers and Rex Beach.

As a result America is flooded with realistic novels of the small towns. Every Greenwich Village scribbler is feverishly attempting to immortalize the livery stable, cow pasture and public square.

Lewis is just 26. In the past year his "Topper" (1920) has easily netted him $200,000. Before the next year has ended the moving picture play and book royalties at a conservative estimate will be a half million.

As Julian Street once wrote of Irvin Cobb, so may one write of "Red" Lewis.

You may praise, you may flatter Sinclair if you will. But the hand of his derby will find him still.

For Sinclair Lewis has not quite grown up. He is just a little bit bewildered by it all. The last time I met him at a private dinner to which a few intimate friends were invited—he spent most of his time wrestling with H. T. Webster, the cartoonist, who comes from Tompkinsville, Ky. Webster is more than six feet tall and weighs more than 200 pounds.

Lewis did not achieve his ambition but he worked up a great appetite for dinner. He is going to live in London a year—perhaps write a novel and perhaps not. He knows the bitter days of one armed lunches and cramped hall bedrooms but he hewed to the line letting the rejection slips fall where they may.

Stories of precocious children are generally tiresome yet there is something quite frank about the New York boy who was a regular attendant at Sunday school and in reply to a question as to what he learned there said: "I learn to put pennies in a dishpan."

Waite Hoyt, the handsome young blonde pitching hero of the Yankees got just exactly 513 admiring mush notes during the recent world series. Not even the loveliest idol on Broadway can equal that record. Hoyt is a rosy, checked young fellow with the classic features of the collar ad Apollo.

A millionaire banker recently much in the limelight has fitted up the entire tenth floor of an office building near the Grand Central Station as living quarters. He seeks peace and quiet and believes that he can best bury himself in the very heart of the teeming metropolis. No one in the building knows of his presence. He has a private elevator and his servants are the kind who have been tried and found not wanting. He is somewhat like that of the Detective Bureau which believes the man hardest to find is the one who mingles with the herd. Once he starts for the open places the arm of the law nips him.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

By W. G. SIBLEY

The Sibley Service, Gallipolis, Ohio

Our Rich Uncle

The promises of politicians, and their subsequent attempts to fulfill them, carried along through generations, have had their cumulative and inevitable effect on the public mind. And we now have a nation which as a whole demands that its government provide prosperity and easy living for the people.

It is, of course, a proper function of government to regulate commerce, industry, trade and finance, that all its citizenship shall have opportunity to work itself into circumstances of comfort and prosperity, with no oppression on one individual, and no special privileges on the other. That is the great responsibility of just government.

But the politician out of office has no responsibility and seeks election to office accordingly while seeking election to office. If in an agricultural region, his promises are such as farmers like: if in an industrial district, manufacturers and workers are his game; if in a location controlled by banking interests, they become his special charge. Thus it has come to pass that every branch of endeavor, every "interest," as we call it, in the country has been educated to demand and expect particular favors from the government. Labor, capital, transportation, agriculture, trade, cattle raisers, packers, bankers, merchants, manufacturers, all have been rushing to the government for laws that will increase their profits; and all complain when things go wrong, either that it is the fault of the government, or that the government must pass laws to make things go right, and legislative halls are filled with jangling voices.

Where intelligence reigns it is known that conditions in all business, all industry, all finance—on the farm, in the plant, the shop, the store, the bank, the packing house, on the rails, arise through the operation of economic laws as inevitable and irresistible as the tides, as gravitation, as the weather—all utterly beyond human control and never by any possibility to be repealed. So now we have two influences arrayed against each other in our country. Intelligence and ignorance. The latter demands immediate relief by law of congress, immediate prosperity by fiat of the government. Intelligence, conscious that after a period of wanton waste, extravagance and the destruction of war, there must be convalescence; and aroused by knowledge that efforts to nullify immutable economic laws can result only in delaying recovery; seeks to steer the government into the safe channels of unimpeded industry, sound finance, and conservative policies.

In Russia, faced by the terrible exigencies of war and revolution, government fell into the hands of men who thought economic law, who believed man-made laws and decrees could overthrow eternal principles and restore a wasted country to prosperity over night, that printing presses could make real money, and resolutions of working men create wealth. The failure, the folly, the stupid ignorance that believed such things, have been in control with the inevitable result—disaster, famine, idleness and abject poverty.

Do we want ignorance or intelligence to control America? Which is best for us, therefore, to economic sanity and wisdom by the natural processes of liquidation, rehabilitation, economy and hard work? or further excursions into selfish exaltation of the one "interest" to which we are personally allied, at the expense of the general welfare of the country? Intelligence has but one answer to these questions. It is that we must "work back," as Calvin Coolidge says, and cease putting our own selfishness above the common good—stop depending on our rich Uncle Sam for fictitious aid.

One Year's Labor Losses

Involuntary idleness by workers in this country between July, 1920, and August 15, 1921, cost them the prodigious sum of $6,500,000,000 in wages lost to them forever—enough to build 24,000,000 homes worth more than $2,000 each for the families of laboring men.

This loss of wages was not the result of strikes. It was caused by the shutting down of great mills and industrial plants, the paralysis of building trades, the excessive demands for high wages everywhere, and the refusal of the public to buy manufactured products at ruling high costs. The losses estimated were not figured at peak wages, but on normal pay levels by experts of the unemployment conference.

In the face of such losses to labor because of intolerable conditions which have frozen industrial enterprises and restricted manufacturers and freight movements to absolute necessities, men who have jobs which promise a living during the winter months would be doing an unbecomingly foolish and tragic thing to press further burdens on business.

Edward Warren, the author of "Ten Thousand a Year," had a well-known weakness for boasting of his title and highly-placed acquaintances, and dragged their names into conversation. One day at the Garrick club, he, with Edmund Yates and two other men, was chatting, when Warren said that it was singular that, happening to dine the previous evening at the Duke of Cleveland's, the dinner, excellent in other ways, was minus a fish course.

"Mose Powell, 101 West Gay Street, Light Delivery."

"All right, Mose," said the friend. "One of these days I will want my piano moved and will call you up." "Piano, h—," expostulated Mose. "Read that card. It says 'light delivery' and that means candles, light bulbs and such things as that."

One On Van Dyke

The principal of a certain school prided himself on the speed with which his pupils went through the fire drill. When he asked them, "What would you children do if I told you there was a fire in the building?" the answer he had taught them rolled with astonishing glissness from their tongues.

One day Dr. Henry van Dyke was to lecture to the pupils. In introducing him the principal asked, "Now, children, what would you do if I told you that Dr. Henry van Dyke was to lecture here today?"

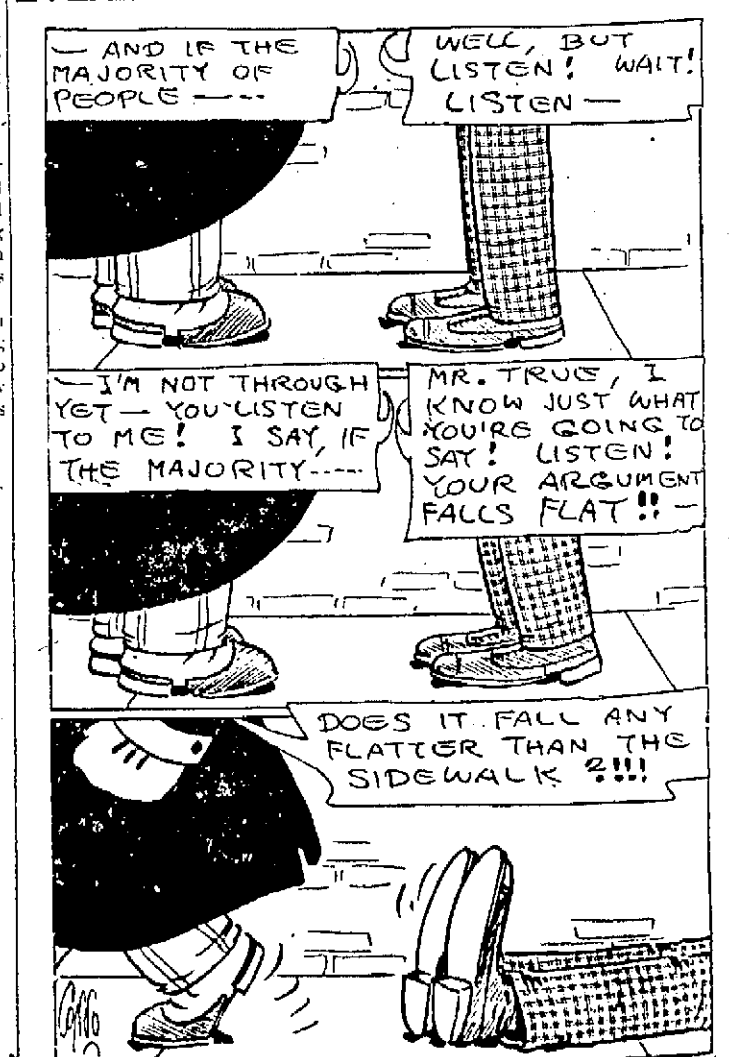

And three hundred voices responded in sing-song: "We would rise promptly, put away our books and then quietly and without disorder, but as quickly as possible, file out to the street." —Youth's Companion.
